

Weekly Agenda

January 13-17, 2014

Homework -

- All classes - 2 books or approximately 1 hour spent on the MyOn App reading. Do you have your login? Do you have the App?

Objective:

- 8th: analyze conflicting information on the same topic from various sources
- 7th: Use learned persuasive techniques to sell a new winter Olympic event to the International Olympic Committee

Essential Question(s):

- 8th: How do folk tales reflect history? Are they always accurate?
- 7th: How do we persuade others? What techniques could we use to help us be better persuaders?

Agenda for classes:

8th:

- Finish any work for "Paula Revere"
- Use folk tales to determine the differences between history and legend. This will be a partner activity. Students will study their chosen legend and make a multi-media presentation about them. Be prepared to present findings to the class.

7th:

- Finish any work for "The Raven"
- We will begin looking at the Winter Olympics and the different events involved.
- From there, students will invent a new event for the upcoming winter games in Sochi, Russia. It will be their job to sell their new creations to the I.O.C.
